

Tiger Family,

It is with great joy and excitement that I write this letter as the returning principal in both of our 3rd year at Capital Collegiate Preparatory Academy for the 2021-22 school year. While the first two years have been more different than anything we've seen due to the COVID-19 pandemic, we are finally looking forward to a "semi-regular" school year. With that being said, there are some great things happening here at CCPA and I'm thrilled to be a part of the team helping lead the way.

Over these two previous years the Tiger community has showed its resilience, flexibility, and overall commitment to CCPA and we want to thank you all dearly for that. In the same timeframe we have seen a tremendous amount of growth and success while becoming one of the most sought after schools in not only the neighborhood but the city. While the road hasn't always been easy, it's contributed to the hard work, dedication, and collaboration from you all. It's with the highest amount of grace and gratitude that I am able to lead the school as principal.

As a representative of the neighborhood we serve and the surrounding areas our mission is to continue to REBUILD, RESTORE, and RECLAIM both pride and excellence. We will lead the way by being the pillar of academics and building up strong and productive participants in society. We will not allow our circumstances to derail us from the ultimate goal of achievement and while we will always be empathetic we will not allow it to be an excuse to dip below the standard of excellence.

This school year we will continue to push our students beyond their comfort zone and break the cycle of limitations. We will continue to increase the rigor, and demand for success on our scholars in strides to surge growth. Our goal at CCPA has been and will continue to be preparation for high achievement in High Schools and beyond. We at CCPA look forward to another year of partnership making year 3 the best yet.

If you have any ideas, questions, and or concerns, my door is always open. Also feel free to contact me at 614-300-3685 or apratt1@capcollprep.org.

Sincerely,

Antwan Pratt, M.Ed., MBA
